Executive Council Issues Opinion on Race Policy

Executive Council opinion on race at BYU was the main topic at council meeting Monday. Other subjects were a report on coming by Chairman Paul Higham, a student complaint against by Ken Karchner and the appointment of William Kohlitz to diet committee.

Use of recent demonstrations several members of the council felt important to make a statement so students from other schools understand how BYU is feel about race problems.

Caldwell, vice president of athletics and sponsor of the council said it was important to state with the problem before demonstrations occur.

BYU President Ken Smith said "We can't go out and stamp out every race that comes up. We want to state a positive statement." He added that the statement "is an opinion and not a statement."

Members objected that first line of the proposed statement was defensive. It read: "The students of BYU do not believe there is any practice of race on our campus that is the view of the civil rights of any regardless of race, creed or nationality." They felt the statement was too all-inclusive. Genho said that there was administrative policy that was a discrimination and a fact.

The student leaders thought it did not apply to all of the students on campus.

Union Calls For Prayer

Prayer has been proclaimed by Diet Nixon as National Day after, 1969.

Support of the Presidential Council, BYU President Ernest L. Wilkinson stated: "We support much this proclamation by the president of the United States. We hope all members of the faculty and staff and the student body will add their prayers to the people of good will across the nation, for the government of America's goal of justice throughout the world."

Peace and justice are the movements for which nations should pray, indicated in a statement issued this month.

The President recalled that John was, on his first night in the White House wrote a letter to his wife, Abigail, in which he said: "I end my letter, I pray you to bestow the best of things on this and my family hereafter inhabit it."

ROMER

Paleontologist Will Address Forum Meet

"From Fish to Man" will be the topic of a lecture by Dr. Alfred S. Romer, authority on what he calls "the 500 million years of history of the back-boned animals on earth," to be given Thursday at BYU.

Dr. Romer will address the weekly forum assembly at 10 a.m. in the Smith Fieldhouse. He will speak at the assembly hall on Temple Square Thursday at 7:30 p.m. under sponsorship of the BYU-Salt Lake Center for Continuing Education.

By comparing both fossil remains and living representatives, Dr. Romer has traced some of the major events in the evolution of the vertebrates, a group which includes fishes, amphibians, reptiles, birds and mammals.

Author of five leading texts in paleontology, Dr. Romer received his Ph.D. at Columbia University. He has taught at New York and Chicago Universities and later at Harvard University for 30 years, retiring in 1965.

Dr. Romer is also noted for his intricate studies on the brain case and for his reconstructions of the nerves of long-extinct fishes, amphibians and reptiles. He has also completed a monograph on the anatomy and classification of labyrinthodonts, the earliest group of amphibians.

WELCOME TO PROVO, Los Angeles of the West. When the wind dies down and the temperature rises, Provo and Utah Valley industry demonstrate they are the equal of any Cincinnati, Pittsburgh or Chicago in the nation. Mt. Timpanogas was snapped yesterday as it rose austere from smoke- and fog-cloaked Utah Valley.

President Speaks

By Holly Smith
Asst. News Editor

Following a standing ovation, President Ernest L. Wilkinson delivered his first address to the student body at yesterday's Devotional assembly.

Dr. Wilkinson acknowledged the applause and then said, "I'm very happy for that demonstration at the beginning, for I fear that I may not get it at the end." He brought the student body the best wishes of President David O. McKay, of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and told the students of the President's concern for the growth of this institution.

The BYU president announced once again that the University now has 24,144 daytime students, which includes students from 70 foreign countries and all 50 states in the Union including the "territory of California and the republic of Texas."

Block Seating

All groups wanting block seating for Homecoming must turn in a preliminary request with the approximate number of tickets desired by 4 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 23.

Lists can be turned in at the Athletic Office on 4th floor ELWC or by slipping them under the door of 113 ELWC.

These lists need only include the following: (1) approximate number of tickets desired and (2) name and phone number of group representative.

DEADLINE
Requests must be turned in by Thursday so that quotas can be set. Quotas will be assigned according to past participation (number of tickets requested and number of tickets picked up). Representatives may receive quotas by calling 374-1211 ext. 3026 or ext. 3110.

If a group does not turn in a preliminary request, it will not be given block seating at all.

He then went on to explain three traditions at BYU.

"By your registration at this University, you are introduced to every other student on campus," he said, explaining the first tradition. "Everyone speaks to everyone else on this campus."

He secondly explained that the school spends at least $100,000 per year for campus maintenance and then asked the students to follow the tradition of not walking on the lawns.

Citing the Prophet Joseph Smith, President Wilkinson spoke of a third tradition, that of not leaving meetings early. He quoted the Prophet in saying that it was rude to leave early.

Dr. Wilkinson proclaimed that BYU owed its birth to the Church's missionary program, tracing the history of school's founder, Karl G. Maeser.

President Maeser grew up in Saxony, Germany and was unaware of the Church until he read an anti-Mormon article.

William Budge, a missionary to England, who himself was a convert, taught the gospel to Karl Maeser and baptized him in the Elbe River in Germany.

After serving one mission, migrating to the United States and Utah and finally serving another mission, Karl Maeser then was sent to Provo to found an academy, which later became BYU.

President Wilkinson also spoke of the early benefactors of BYU, people who kept the University alive in its early years.

He specifically mentioned Abraham O. Smoot, who as stake president also had to raise funds for the young Brigham Young Academy. As an added incentive to encourage President Smoot to go to Provo, Brigham Young told him to "go to Provo or go to Hell."

Dr. Wilkinson also illuminated Jesse Knight's contribution to the university. At one time, "Uncle Jesse" was one of the Church's largest tithesayers, turning over $86,000 to the Church's coffers.

Foreign Service

Applications Made Available

Applications for the Foreign Service Officers Examination are now available to interested students, according to Dr. Stan Taylor, chairman of the International Relations Dept.

"These applications are for those interested in pursuing a career in the State Department or United States Information Agency," Dr. Taylor explained.

The applications for the exam can be picked up in room 119 of the new Faculty Office Building, by the Old Stadium.

Dec. 6 is the date of the actual examination, but students must apply for the examination on the now-available forms by Friday, Oct. 24.

The exam is mainly open to graduate students or seniors, since appointments are career appointments. However, Dr. Taylor explained that appointments would be available to students of all majors, whether in languages, humanities or whatever, depending on how well they do on the test.

"We feel fortunate to be able to give the exam," said Dr. Taylor. "It's the first time in two years that it has been given because of the backlog of those who passed the test and were waiting for appointments. All those interested in the foreign service really should take this test."

WORLD

SEOUL (AP)—President Chung Hee Park today named six new Cabinet Ministers, a new chief of the secret police and a chief presidential secretary but kept Premier Chung Il Kwen and other Cabinet members in office.

Chung and the Cabinet resigned Monday to give Park a free hand in reorganizing the government after the 2-to-1 adoption last week of a constitutional amendment permitting the president to run for a third term in 1971.

COTONOU, Dahomey (AP)—The Dahomey government announced today that an attempt to assassinate Lt. Col. Maurice Kouandete, the army chief of staff, failed Sunday night.

The statement said that automatic weapons were fired at Kouandete's car but missed. There was no indication of who did the firing or if any arrests had been made.

***

ROME (AP)—The new mayor of Rome, who inherited more than $2 billion in city debts, is waging war on tax evaders whom he blames for putting the city further in the hole.

In his first major address Monday night, Ciriaco De Sica said he had begun a "systematic search for fiscal evaders," planned a general reform of the tax laws and would reorganize the tax collector's office.

***

LOURENCO MARQUES, Mozambique (AP)—Protesting Sweden's financial supporting an African nationalist movement in northern Mozambique and Angola, about 5,000 African dock workers refused to handle Swedish cargo Monday and demonstrated instead.

They paraded past the Swedish consulate carrying Portuguese flags and shouting anti-Swedish slogans, then marched to the harbor and persuaded other dock workers to stop unloading a Swedish freighter.

NATIONAL

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Utah Construction & Mining Co., announced Monday a 10-year contract with Mitsui Mining & Smelting Co., of Japan to smelt 60 per cent of the copper concentrates to be produced from its island mine near Port Hardy British Columbia.

Terms call for treatment of approximately 140,000 tons of concentrate annually, containing about 30,000 tons of copper, starting early in 1972.

Mitsui will purchase the copper at the prevailing price at time of delivery.

STATE

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Lawrence K. Goldsmith, president of a Salt Lake clothing firm, was re-elected president of the Utah Association for Mental Health Monday.

Others elected at the association's annual meeting included: The Rev. J. A. Frazer Crocker, Provo, first vice president; Dr. Louis G. Meehan, Salt Lake, second vice president; Mrs. Roy E. McDonald, Salt Lake, treasurer; Mrs. Miriam Parkinson, Wellsville, secretary.

***

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—District Judge D. Frank Wilkins has dismissed one count each of forgery and grand larceny charges against two men accused of stealing more than $600,000 from the Mormon Church.

The men, LaMar E. Kay, 40, and Seldon C. Darrow, 31, are still scheduled for trial Nov. 17 on two other counts of forgery and two of grand larceny each.

AFROTC

Officer, Cadet Receive Recognition

The bronze star for meritorious service in Vietnam was presented Tuesday to Capt. Harold S. Stock, an Air Force ROTC instructor newly assigned to BYU.

Capt. Stock received the medal for his work while second in command of a Redhorse (rapid construction) unit which was assigned to engineering projects in Vietnam.

The certificate presented

Capt. Harold S. Stock

Tuesday to Capt. Stock cited his "meritorious service as Operations Officer" . . . supervising forces involved in the construction of facilities costing over $3 million.

Capt. Stock graduated from Utah State University. He received his M.E. degree in 1965 through the Air Force Institute of Technology program at Texas A & M.

While stationed in the Far East, Capt. Stock was also a district clerk of the Southern Vietnam Servicemen's District, one of three districts for LDS servicemen in that country.

Eldon H. Capener, a senior BYU Air Force ROTC cadet, has been awarded the Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Association Scholarship Award. The grant is one of six awarded to outstanding junior and senior cadets among all members of Air Force ROTC units across the nation.

The honor of this $500 scholarship is doubled in that Capener won the award last year in national competition as a junior.

Check Writing Important

Safe check writing safeguards not only the writer but the cashed as well. The following eight rules of safe check writing appeared in the June 1969 copy of THE OFFICE. The rules are reprinted here by permission of THE OFFICE and author Richard C. Gail.

1. Use a pen, typewriter or check writing machine.
2. Begin at the left of every line.
3. Fill in blank spaces by drawing straight lines through them.
4. Avoid flourishes in your handwriting.
5. Destroy all spoiled checks and mark the stub "void."
6. Don't use initials or abbreviations; write out every word (for example, "Jones and Co.") can easily be changed to "Jones and Cooper").
7. Never sign a blank check.
8. Keep all unused checks and all cancelled checks in a safe place (the latter bear your signature).

B. A. Thresher To Talk Nov. 8

Prof. B. Alden Thresher, director of admissions, emeritus, at Massachusetts Institute of Technology will be the featured speaker and conference consultant for BYU's eighth annual Articulation Conference Nov. 8.

Approximately 300 secondary school counselors, principals and district superintendents from Utah and Idaho are expected to attend the conference.

Also on the program will be a boardwalk bazaar of information featuring admissions, counseling center, education information and guidance center, financial aids, graduate school, honors program, housing, ROTC, scholarships and selective service, according to L. Robert Webb, conference chairman.

Participants will also work on critical incident case studies designed to give them special insight into how BYU handles special cases such as admissions and scholarships.

Capener was initially selected when a sophomore and presented the award when he was a junior. The award was renewable upon his qualifications his senior year.

Capener is an electrical engineering student from Riverside, Utah. He is a graduate of Bear River High School and served in the Bavarian Mission in southern Germany.

Letters to the editor

KNOWLEDGE

Editor,
Mr. Kenneth Bushie insists in his recent letter that President Brigham Young "never recognized intelligence as secular knowledge." He then misconstrues the scripture in D&C 93:36-37 to read that intelligence is the ability to forsake evil. Such is not only a distortion of the scripture, but a distortion of President Young's beliefs concerning secular and spiritual knowledge which, after all, was the basis of his entire philosophy. In the Journal of Discourses (2:93-94) Brother Young makes a number of interesting statements concerning man's obligation to seek "secular knowledge." In 1953 he wrote, for example, "Shall I sit down and read the Bible, the Book of Mormon, and the Book of Covenants all the time?" says one. Yes, if you please, and when you have done you may be nothing but a sectarian after all. It is your duty to study to know everything upon the face of the earth, in addition to reading those books. We should not only study good, and its effects upon our race, but also evil, from its consequences. . . If I do not learn what is in the world, from first to last, somebody will be wiser than I am. I intend to know the whole of it, both good and bad. Shall I practice evil? No; neither have I told you to practice it, but to learn by the light of truth every principle there is in existence in the world. . . And inasmuch as the Lord Almighty has designed us to know all that is in the earth, both the good and the evil, and to learn not only what is in heaven, but what is in hell, you need not expect ever to get through learning. Though I mean to learn all that is in heaven, earth and hell. Do I need to commit iniquity to do it? No. If I were to go into the bowels of hell to find out what is there, that does not make it necessary that I should commit any evil, or blaspheme in any way the name of my Maker."

This is the kind of open-mindedness that must lie at the foundation of any university, which particularly at the university which bears the name of Brigham Young.

Richard H. Cracraft

Editor,
It has come to my attention recently that a picture-mural at the between the first and second floors of the Joseph Smith Building. Herein is depicted a distortion of the works of the prophet Smith.

I have thoroughly studied life and works of the prophet and can consider no greater disservice to this happy man than colors of darkness and for which his countenance.

I am sure he would more so a picture of his happiness that would do his character and being.

CHUNKY PEOPLE

Editor,
There is a great injustice committed on this campus. The culprit is you. Next time you walk across this beautiful campus take notice of people you see who are considerably overweight. If it was a frightening experience.

If the body is the temple spirit, then some spirits would be hurt. Why person live the word of the letter, yet ignore its to keep our bodies healthy.

I believe that if a person obsessed with eating to the point where he deforms the body given to him by his Father in Heaven, he is as much a mammon as anyone. I feel that we will be held accountable for the way we treat out and that any Mormon who breaks traditional customs put himself on a healthy commence a vigorous program isn't worth his salt.

The benefits of keeping bodies and minds in without number. Mental and physical alertness go hand in hand. It is the greatest gift the world to be a healthy, spiritual person body and mind will reward, and who knows he will long, happy, healthy life time you look in the mirror, this is a spiritual.

Slipp, Dixon Lead Defense

By Bob Hudson
Asst. Sports Editor

Slipp, a defensive end, and Dixon, a linebacker, have their presences felt by opponents throughout season. Against Wyoming they especially forced in getting enemy troops to notice them. Their efforts both have been as this week's Athlete of week.

Slipp, a senior majoring in education, hails from Las Vegas, where he attended Vegas High School. In an on to football, he played basketball and baseball for his alma mater.

He says he would like to play professional football if given the opportunity but right now plans to teach and coach after receiving his degree.

When asked to comment on last weekend's game, Jeff stated, "I don't think that the score indicated the team's ability or readiness to play. The Cowboys seemed to capitalize on every mistake we made."

Jeff further commented, "We can win the next five games but we've got to force our opponents into errors and capitalize on them. Our morale is still really good."

Our pride was hurt by the Cowboys but we'll be ready for a victory this weekend."

Rick Dixon, too, is a senior in physical education. He hails from Albuquerque, N.M. where he attended Highland High School. In addition to his football chores, Rick took on the challenge of track. He completed in the javelin and threw the slender silver 204 feet, not bad for a high schooler.

Rick would like to coach in Albuquerque after he receives his degree.

When asked for comments on the Wyoming game, Rick said, "I think the first couple of minutes when they scored 17 points demoralized us somewhat."

"We're going down to El Paso to win, though. We'll need to stop their passing game but I'm sure that our backs can do it."

"Like Jeff said, we're going to win the next five games. We've got the team to do it. We just can't let the past beat the future."

Jeff Nominated for Player of the Week

EVER (AP)—Wyoming's Engleright, one of the darlings of the rugged sport of defense, has been named as the Athletic Conference player of the week for his keying the Wyoming Cowboys.

Engleright recovered one pass, intercepted a pass, made two tackles and three Cougar quarterback for as Wyoming clubbed BYU.

Senior, Ron Gardin, Arizona's chip running back, was the offensive player of the week for leading the Wildcats to their first season victory, over El Paso.

John Lloyd Eaton this year in Engleright to left outside center from the position he held for two years on the side. The move has paid off smoothly for the 5-11 pound senior from Muskegon.

Against BYU, Engleright held the Cowboy defense held BYU to 16 yards and 129 yards total. His fumble recovery on Cougar 17 set up Wyoming's first score and later his pass interception led to the second Cowboy touchdown.

Other nominees for defensive player were BYU's Jeff Slipp, a defensive end who made 16 tackles and recovered a fumble in the Wyoming game; Dan Hudson, Colorado State University tackle; Arizona tackle Rex Macklin; Arizona State University defensive back Seth Miller; Houston Ross, New Mexico linebacker and Larry Stone, a Utah linebacker.

In winning 20 games for the 1969 Yankees, pitcher Mel Stottlemyre hurled 303 innings. Mel completed 24 of his 39 starts.

When the Air Force Academy soccer team tied defending NCAA co-champion Michigan State 1-1 this fall it was the first deadlock for the Falcon booters in 37 matches.

Wild turkeys are legal game in all or parts of eight counties in New York state. About one turkey hunter in two dozen gets his gobble or hen during the fall hunt—about the same ratio of success as for archers pursuing whitetail deer.

Soccermen Meet United Tonight

By Jim Hunt
Universe Sports writer

Two of the four undefeated teams in the "A" division of the Utah Soccer Association will meet today at 7:30 p.m. on Haws Field when BYU "A" hosts United of Salt Lake City.

United has won two games and tied Alemanna, while BYU has won its only two league contests. The Incas, 3-0, and Alemanna, 2-0-1, are the other undefeated teams.

United won the Daynes Cup competition before the start of the season.

United made a Wednesday night appearance at BYU last spring, and it proved to be the Y's most exciting home game. United jumped to a 3-1 halftime lead, but the Cougars came back to grab a 6-4 victory.

United has an ethnic makeup that is primarily northwest European. The British Isles, Scandinavia and Germany supplied most of the manpower. As a result, the team plays the northern European brand of soccer: rough and tumble, with the emphasis on strength and teamwork rather than individual brilliance.

Keith Fisher is probably the best center fullback in the league and Steve Burns, a halfback, was a member of Scotland's national under-23-year-old side.

BYU, already suffering from the loss of Steve Camargo, Cres McTavish and Victor Cave before the season started, now has to replace rugged defender Ed Wolfert. Pressing family responsibilities and recurring leg problems have forced his retirement.

But the Cougars are not hurting as much as most teams in the league.

Chris Petersen, a Dane, has taken some of the responsibility in setting up the offense away from Forrest, so that the Scotsman may have more opportunity to shoot.

Williams Manager Of Year

The Splendid Splinter of baseball was named The Associated Press' American League Manager of the Year for bringing the Washington first winning season in 17

Ted Williams, in his first manager, narrowly out another rookie manager, Martin, who was fired directing Minnesota's Western Division title.

Williams, a Hall of Fame the most recent of the hitters, had never managed to this year in Washington. Senators owner offered Ted in the club and a salary amounted to more than million dollars.

The Senators compiled a record of 86-76 and a fourth finish. The Senators hit finished at .300 since 1950 not since 1953 had they finished better than .300.

Williams did all this with the same group of players finished last with a 63-96 in 1968.

"I've never seen a group of players so engrossed in what manager was saying," Washington pitcher Bertina, speaking of the Williams automatically did from his players.

Although he admits he was uneasy about trying his hand managing, the hands 50-year-old Williams' pragmatism, knowledge of game and understanding of won over the Senators.
